FOREWORD

Greetings and welcome back! We truly appreciate your continued interest in the RIT Clean Snowmobile Team, and we're thrilled to present the very first newsletter of this year. Our team has been hard at work since the semester began, focusing on various public relations activities. At the start of the school year, we introduced a brand-new event – our delightful Root Beer Float Social! We brought our snowmobile to the dorm side, providing an excellent opportunity to connect with hundreds of eager first-year students arriving at RIT. In addition, our participation in the Performance Team New Member Day was a remarkable showcase of our snowmobile's dynamic capabilities. Furthermore, we proudly joined the Club Fair, and it's worth noting that we've welcomed a record number of first-year members to our team this year.

Speaking of public relations, we're excited to announce our presence on a new social media platform – TikTok! Stay connected with us by following our account @rit.clean.snowmobile for engaging and entertaining content.

TEAM AFFAIRS

In a year filled with notable milestones, we're thrilled to announce the official opening of the SHED on our campus. This state-of-the-art facility has become the new home for many of our performance teams' permanent workshops. While our snowmobile shop remains in Louise Slaughter Hall, we've expanded our presence by setting up a dedicated display in the SHED, specifically in room 1300. This new exhibit showcases our 2012 retired RMK snowmobile, adorned with two striking team banners and a custom-designed stand that elegantly presents a helmet along with our well-deserved awards.

In addition to these exciting developments, we're delighted to inform you that our team is fully registered for the upcoming competition this year. Furthermore, we've already submitted our abstract, setting the stage for a promising year ahead. We can't wait to share our journey with you as we continue to make strides in the world of clean snowmobile innovation!

MENTIONS

Thank you for tuning in for this edition of our newsletter! Next month's newsletter will focus on our development of projects and test procedures this year.
